

1000 Bar Overview

The Tema high pressure coupling was specially developed for use in industrial machinery, salvage devices and testing equipment. This series is produced in galvanised steel. The probe and sleeve are made from hardened galvanised steel. The coupling can be supplied either with or without safety lock.

Features

-